

Alexis R. Mulkey

Law Clerk

amulkey@bdlaw.com

+1.206.620.3026

600 University Street, Suite 1601, Seattle, WA, 98101-3109

Lexie uses her public policy and law degrees to help clients navigate high-stakes litigation.

She helps guide clients through all stages of litigation, including E-discovery and document review, depositions, mediations, drafting important memorandum, and drafting preliminary motions. Lexie has worked on matters under federal law, such as the Resource Conservation and Recovery Act (RCRA), and state policies, including Washington's Dangerous Waste Regulations. Lexie has extensive experience helping business clients navigate environmental insurance coverage issues under commercial general liability (CGL) policies, as well as coverage issues expanding beyond environmental issues such as matters arising under directors and officers (D&O), and professional liability policies.

While pursuing her JD, Lexie was an extern with the Washington Pollution Control and Shorelines Hearing Board, where she drafted board opinions and gained an understanding of issues generators, transporters, and operators face under state and federal regulations. Additionally, she served as the Editor-and-Chief of the Washington Journal of Social and Environmental Justice.

Education

- University of Washington (J.D., 2024)
  - Editor-in-Chief, Washington Journal of Social and Environmental Justice
  - Jack MacDonald Merit Award
  - Order of the Barristers
  - Student Attorney, Mediation Clinic
  - Vice President of Alumni Relations, Moot Court Honor Board
- London School of Economics and Political Science (M.S., 2020)
  - Public Policy and International Immigration
- University of Texas - Austin (B.A., 2019)
  - Humanities and Government
  - Minors in Geography and Chemistry

Post-graduate Education

- Certification in Political Risk Management, Eurasia Group